

Amaranta Karssiens

Amaranta E.A. Karssiens (1958, MA, Social Sciences, University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands) is an independent consultant in management development and organisational development for both profit and non-profit organisations. In 1998 she founded her own company: R.A.A.K. Consultancy. Currently, Amaranta has over twenty years of experience in consultancy. She combines a focus on achieving organizational results in projects with a focus on individual development in speech and mind. Amaranta also coaches executives and project managers during long-term projects. She is skilled in Large Scale Interventions: creating common ground with decisions makers groups to choose strategic projects.

Clara van der Linden

Clara S. van der Linden (1982, MSc, Industrial Engineering & Management and Philosophy of Science, Technology and Society, University of Twente, the Netherlands) started working for R.A.A.K. Consultancy in 2007. She conducted research for this company: in efforts to identify from participants the ‘working ingredients’ of the already well-established leadership programmes. Currently Clara is also a student at the Classic Academy for Painting in Groningen, the Netherlands.

Celeste Wilderom

Professor Celeste P.M. Wilderom (PhD, New York State, Buffalo, USA) is a full professor of Management and Organizational Behavior at the University of Twente, the Netherlands, where she is responsible for the Master of Science in Service Management (Business Administration). Celeste (co-)authors a great variety of publications in both research and (Dutch) practitioner journals and she is currently a senior editor of the British Journal of Management. Currently Wilderom publishes in the areas of services and organizational leadership, change and culture (e.g., SAGE’s 2000 Handbook of Organizational Culture & Climate, together with Neal Ashkanasy and Mark Peterson).

Wessel Ganzevoort

Professor J. Wessel Ganzevoort (1946, PhD, MBA University of Nijenrode, MA, Social Sciences, University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands) joined KPMG 1970 as a management consultant. He studies business administration, economics and social psychology. Since 1980 he served KPMG in various management positions: as chairman of the Dutch practice, as chairman of the KPMG’s European consulting activities and as deputy chairman for global consulting. From 1994 – 1996 he was president of the Netherlands Association of Management consultancy Firms (ROA). From 1996 – 1999 he was responsible for the KPMG Inspire Foundation, an innovation and research centre of KPMG. Since 1998 he is professor Organization Dynamics and Innovation at the University of Amsterdam. Since he left KPMG in 2000 he has become non-executive chairman and board member of several companies and institutions and is active as a boardroom consultant.